

Religious Education for Children Committee Report to Yearly Meeting.
Summer 2010

The Religious Education for Children Committee met by phone and corresponded over the year. We planned a one day “confab” for First Day School teachers. When a committee member with some of the workshop responsibilities was unable to attend, and we only had two people indicating an interest in coming, three days before the event, we cancelled. Then we heard of 4 who said they were planning to come!

Our committee stands willing to send two or three members to any monthly meeting who would like to host a teachers’ gathering for themselves and neighboring meetings. We want to encourage good teaching and excitement around working with kids. The confab plan is simple and can be done on a Saturday from 10 - 4. We’ll worship, talk about what works, or doesn’t, in our first day classes. We’ll eat lunch together, share games and activities, look at teaching materials, and close with some more worship.

If your meeting would like to host such an event—we can do several—get in touch with the clerk, Sandy Farley <farley@spont.com>
