Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in our time. Hebrews 4:16

Greetings to Friends worldwide from the 120th sessions of the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Chur held at George Fox University in Newberg, Oregon. Our theme was Let us Come Boldly. Our visitors were Mamani of Holiness Friends Yearly Meeting, Bolivia; Christine Hall of Whidby Island Worship Group; Ron Pacific Yearly Meeting; Sheila Hoyer of First Friends Greensboro, North Carolina; Jane Snyder of Bridge Meeting NPYM; Rae Lawrence, Multnomah Monthly Meeting NPYM; and Alexandra Bosbeer, Quaker Cc Affairs. We thank the many meetings and associations of Friends that sent greetings to us, and are grateful to our new Superintendent, Becky Ankeny, was the speaker during our sessions. Each night she challenged the members to look closely at prayer, starting with our elder brother Jesus’ prayer for the unity of his followers. We adapt use of multimedia, including works of art and music, we were encouraged to pray as exiles in foreign lands, pleading for our people, as children praying for everything and anything, and finally as the broker of forgiveness of ourselves and others.

There is a song that speaks of the paradoxes of following Christ. The paradox we face is found in the first repe... by the entitlements “and we pray that all be restored.” The NWYM has begun to engage in a dialogue around human sexuality that begins in a plural display of disagreement. We rejoice to report that our actions and words in this week have echoed the resolution of the chorus of that song: “And they’ll know we are Christians by our love, by our love. Yes, they’ll know we are love.”

To aid us in preparing for our meeting, the Elders provided a prayer guide for the 50 days preceding the meetings. The attitude of prayer this guide developed has undergirded our week together and the evidences of the Spirit’s presence was highly evident in humorous moments that brought us together and taught us to be open differently at ourselves. There was a skit in which some came “baldly” and eventually realized that “baldly” and we had plenty of times in which we laughed at ourselves as we puzzled over words or statements that right the first time.

We heard the inspiring stories of the transformative work of God, both by Friends serving their local communities and those serving abroad. We were especially excited about a new beginning for involvement with Friends serving in Europe, Southeast Asia, Africa and South America. We were blessed by the testimonies shared by Tim Burns, and Dan Burns, whom we recorded as ministers. We also affirmed the gifts shared with our Yearly Meeting, Cammack as he steps into the role of Director of Evangelical Friends Mission. Happily, this will not require us to be around. Dan would therefore love to continue sharing his ministry with interested meetings. We honored the director, Chuck Mylander, and wish him well in his retirement.

Our youth, as always, encouraged us and challenged us by examining and holding up to us the sixth question: “As followers of Christ do you love and respect each other? Do patience and consideration... interactions; and when differences arise, do you resolve them promptly in a spirit of forgiveness and understand you careful with the reputation of others?” In leading worship on Wednesday night, the youth displayed a exploration including the kinesthetic combination of walking paint onto canvas followed by the youth waltz the feet of those who walked. Their worship queries called us to a deeper sense of who we are and how I present to “others.”

After 120 years, NWYM continues to work on being bold as its members go into the world and share the Gospel. Jesus Christ. We, as God’s children, are works in progress and in need of the Spirit’s guidance as we wrestle with the paradox of being unified while praying for unity. We have weathered many storms as a Yearly Meeting and grace of God at work among us. We invite you to join us in coming boldly to the throne of grace.
