

PACIFIC YEARLY MEETING

MINUTES OF REPRESENTATIVE COMMITTEE

March 5, 1983

The Meeting was held at Orange Grove Meeting House, Pasadena, and commenced with a period of worship. Our aim is to climb the mountaintop, striving for heightened perspective, and to shed our selves.

Approximately sixty Friends were in attendance at the commencement of the business session at ten a.m. An attendance sheet was circulated.

We approved the agenda with one exception: the Treasurer's report was to be heard before 11:00 a.m.

ACTION MINUTE 1.: We approved the minutes of representative committee from August, 1982, with one correction: The sites committee budget should be $600.00.

The TREASURERS' REPORT was given by former co-treasurer Stratton Jaquette. This report covers the fiscal year ending September 30, 1982. The original is attached to the original of these minutes. Details were discussed and questions answered, revealing no substantive changes or problems. The Treasurers' report was accepted.

The current Treasurers' Interim report was explained and received.

We heard a report from College Park Quarterly Meeting (Margaret Mossman). The gathering experiences sustenance, joy, and growth. There are new worship groups. The Quarterly meeting is still defining its identity and structure. It is difficult to find enough people to fill all of the positions necessary to its function, which includes oversight over three corporations - John Woolman School, Friends' Association for Services for the Elderly, and Ben Lomond Center. All of these organizations are flourishing, but have their problems and require considerable time and attention.

Paul Johnson, of Southern California Quarterly Meeting reported that each meeting in the Quarter had been visited to ascertain what was wanted of Quarterly Meeting. The responses were: worship, fellowship, exchange of information and uplift and inspiration. Information exchange is always overwhelming, and a new pattern of encouraging displays at Quarterly Meetings has helped disseminating data to those interested, but some still feel that verbal discussion in plenary session is still needed. Peace and Social Action is active, and encourages new issues at each session. Meetings have had as a theme this year the realities of jobs, values and money, and have led to interesting discussions and a realization that Friends are reluctant to talk about spending, and, on the West Coast at least, are not active in creating jobs.

Honolulu Meeting, through Nancy O'Neill, expressed a feeling of isolation which is eased when Friends come to visit, but the meeting feels only "kind of" a part of PYM.

Mexico City Meeting: Eduardo Ortega brought loving greetings and encouraged visitation. The Meeting, and the Mexican Friends Service Committee, are very involved in refugee problems from Guatemala and Salvador. The Organizing Committee for Latin American Friends distributes a Bulletin and makes visits; translates literature into Spanish and provides scholarships for Bolivian students in Mexico. The economy in Mexico is bad - inflation and unemployment are very high. The goals of the Meeting are building for the future and seeking a deeper spiritual life. Eduardo hopes that there will be time at Yearly Meeting to discuss the Central American Refugee problems.

Marie Schutz, of the Sites Committee, reported that the most attractive site, Bret Harte, had fallen through because of financial litigation, and arrangements had been completed to return to Chico (Craig Hall) in 1983, August 1 through 6. Sites committee requests plenary session time at PYM. The Survey by the committee was helpful in leading to some changes in arrangements for 1983 and in setting some goals for the future, including simplifying meals, avoiding separation of campers, having comfort and convenience for committees. The committee feels that John Woolman School is not a feasible site. Time sharing with other groups is a possibility, but not readily at hand. Our problems are that we need: exclusive use, a geographically central location, camping facilities, large spaces, low costs, and a complex combination of amenities ranging from simplistically rural to sophisticatedly urban.

The Agenda Review Committee (Jeanette Norton) provoked a spirited discussion of our expectations of Yearly Meeting, and our appropriate use of the gift of time. The committee hopes that we can find greater depth in our discussions by examining concerns in small groups and plenary sessions both, and narrowing our focus while broadening our participation. Friends spoke of experiences in other Friends gatherings with formats unlike ours, and encouraged us to be creative and think the unthinkable. We were reminded to be sensitive to the need of all attenders to participate, including parents and workers in the childrens' program, and not to forego small group discussions, and to try to get feedback from those who had attended in the past but not returned. The Committees were urged to take the responsibility of channelling concerns into interest groups and plenary sessions, or to other formats, letting the structure flow from the concerns. This must be done soon, since the Agenda Review Committee will meet May 1st, and interest groups must be defined by July 1st. Mention was also made of the need to welcome newcomers, the possibility of Bible study, the need to go back to the monthly meetings with this discussion and to encourage Friends to attend. We were asked to avoid clutter, haste and busyness, and to leave time and space to hear God's message.

ACTION MINUTE 2. We named the following persons to the Committee to Name the Nominating Committee: Jonathan Vogel, convenor; Ellie Foster; Kitty Barragato; alternate, John Draper.

Concerns from Meetings included Central American Refugees, our lack of involvement in race relations, our need to gain skills to deal with mental and emotional illness in our members' families and others in the community, and with conflict resolution. We were told of the Interfaith Peace Movement in Sacramento, by Walt Kersey. They are holding a symposium on October 1 on "Faith, War and Peace in a Nuclear Age", and would appreciate support and advice from Yearly Meeting. Some Friends commented that our organization had grown so complex that they felt the need of flow charts and cartoons. We were reminded that while we are justified in our concern for refugees, we also must remember those who are not able to flee, but must endure.

Nominating Committee (Margaret Mossman) told of its problems with finding representatives to Friends Organizations, and its difficulty in explaining what the representatives' duties were, and what the financial support consisted of. This led to a discussion of PYM's representatives to the AFSC Corporation. We currently have two, and the pattern has been to have one from the north and one from the south, with two year terms.

Only one of these representatives has transportation paid to Philadelphia for the annual meeting, usually during the representative's second year. It was asked to what extent the representative was expected to bring back information and reports from the organization, and this was seen as unclear and dependant on the organization and the circumstances. It was noted that information can be brought back in many ways, including the Bulletin. It was pointed out that an important function of a representative is to function as a member of the organization's governing body, and in so doing, to exert the conscience of the representative and the Yearly Meeting.

No action was taken on this matter, but the Nominating Committee was asked to consider our discussion.

Virginia Heck, our representative to Friends World Committee on Consultation reported of her participation in the larger group and on the committees of the Section of the Americas. She spoke of Gordon Browne, new Executive Secretary of the Section, and of the fact that the Section is closing its midwest office and is seeking two roving staff people to help with regional gatherings and local activities.

Ministry and Oversight (Paul Niebanck) has considered the role of Representative Committee and asked the Discipline Committee to consider the subject and Ellie Foster's letter in this regard, and also to consider the question of junior membership. One friend is using the fund for concerns: Margaret Olney is developing course material on peace. While not wanting to establish a "theme" for PYM in 1983, the committee did come to a desire to explore Friends in time and space, and examine the history of the Society and its place in the world today. The committee recommended, and we took, the following action:

ACTION MINUTE 3.: We will invite Gordon Browne, Executive Secretary of the Friends World Committee on Consultation, Section of the Americas, to attend Pacific Yearly Meeting 1983, to communicate to us some of his knowledge of the world community of Friends. The Clerk, and Ministry and Oversight are asked to work out the details of his visit, including the participation of himself and Mrs. Browne, and financial assistance with their travel and living expenses.

Tad Kershner reported for Junior Friends. They are planning discussion groups on these subjects: Opposing authority; being a Quaker in a conservative era, and The PYM experience for Junior Friends. They hope to have their epistle committee in action by the second day, and anticipate activities to include capture the flag, river trips and games. They will have a meeting on safety for the river trips. They want to participate in the Hiroshima vigil. Older Friends made some comments on the need to include everyone and the cost of a live band, which were accepted in good grace by the representative, who commented that the junior Friends were planning to don armbands and help carry luggage for the aged.

Discipline Committee (Pegge Lacey) reported that copies of the current Faith and Practice were few, and that the committee had finished the Queries and Advices. Work in progress includes some new sections: Clearness, Equality of Women, Glossary, Quaker Testimonies and Monthly Meeting. Plenary session time might be helpful in dealing with some hard issues. If not, perhaps an open session of the Committee should be scheduled. The committee may release some of the completed sections, and is considering various loose-leaf formats.

paul Schneider reported for Young Friends that they are concerned about their separateness from the general membership and attenders, which is inconsistent with their desire to take responsibilities and their realization that they do have a say. They want to encourage attendance by their members and plan to discuss subjects such as love and trust as a community in the business meeting. Scheduling needs work. They need time for their business meetings, and practice in small groups, and still be able to attend plenary sessions. They were encouraged to communicate with each other prior to May 1, which is the Agenda Review Committee meeting, at which they will be represented.

Jack Hunter, for the Junior Friends Committee, announced that they are seeking one more advisor for the High School program, and that this would be a good opportunity for a young person to attend PYM, since expenses are paid.

Social Order (Elizabeth Jones) plans no minute but will work on exchanging information. They plan a series of pamphlets, beginning with Bob Schutz's "Friendly Business." They are also planning projects to include Work Camps, trips on the John Way model, and other activities, and have a sub-committee working on this. Current issues they bring to us include Central America - Claremont Meetings letter explaining its stand as a sanctuary was read - and El Centro de Paz, which hopes to purchase a residence in Hermosillo to be used as a project center, at a total cost of $25,000. They remind us that much work is needed in race relations, as was pointed out by the minute from Friends Triennial conference.

The US - USSR Relations subcommittee (Herb Foster) reminded us that PYM minute 1982 - 1 asked them to bring us a proposal at Representative Committee in March. They have been working on such a proposal, and their plans include activity through Tours, exchanges and contacts; Literature broadening information on both sides; Programs of reconciliation. All of the above is peripheral, and important, but they feel that PYM should become directly involved, such as by having a Friend in the USSR, lobbying in Washington, or establishing working parties or study groups. The subcommittee needs to expand its membership in order to bring specific proposals to PYM, where it will want to hold interest groups and address a plenary session.

Action Minute 4. We encouraged the continuation of the work of the US - USSR subcommittee of Peace and Social Order, and encouraged it to coopt additional members and to bring specific proposals to PYM to be discussed at interest groups and a plenary session.

Peace Committee (Akie Reynolds): has addressed many concerns, such as HR 1050, a bill to cut off funding for selective service registration; fast for disarmament (see Edith Cole); Delta meetings concern on Conscientious Objector status; the minute from the Triennial Meeting about security and disarmament; the Peace Brigade; the Whittier Institute's "Feeling Safe," June 17 through 24. Peace Items needing plenary session time will be:
 1. Peace Tax fund. Using the New England Yearly Meeting model, the Committee is exploring the possibility of a fund for alternatives to war taxes. 2. Minute on the Middle East urging withdrawal of troops from Lebanon except for UN. 3. Nuclear freeze. Since August 6th falls on the last day of PYM (Saturday), we need to consider the time and arrangements. The committee would like to arrange a letter-writing room again this year. The following interest groups are planned: Middle East; Nuclear freeze; Peace Tax Fund, and Law of the Sea.

Action Minute 5: We leave the Hiroshima Vigil scheduling to the Agenda Review Committee in consultation with the Peace Committee and Chico Friends.

Alan Strain, for the Bulletin Committee reported that the Committee had surveyed the subscription statistics and found that meetings and individuals were from one to three months late in paying subscriptions, causing the editor to spend inordinate time on collections and creating a serious cash flow problem. Beginning January 1984, all subscriptions will be due in January, and a system of pro-rating subscriptions has been devised in the transition period. The editor's new address is 3401 Clement St., Apt. 3, San Francisco, Ca. 94121, tel (415) 386-7884. The editor, Shirley Ruth, reminded us that the deadline is the fifth of the prior month, and that the Bulletin should be used for committee and other PYM communications in the next few months. The committee would like to have plenary session time.

Friend in the Orient (Rose Lewis) announced that the Friends in the Orient, Lloyd and Mary-Margaret Bailey are now in Korea, anxious to commence language study and already in touch with local Friends. They may need help with making a deposit on an apartment soon. Such deposits, by Korean custom, are quite large. PYM pays only their travel to the Orient, not their living expenses. Other trips sponsored by the committee included that of Sang Dal Cha to Korea, and Rose Lewis' sojourn in Japan, Korea and India on her way to Kenya for the Friends World Conference. She has described her trip in Windows East and West, the committee newsletter. She saw much that was sad and grim, and South Africa was the worst.

Action Minute 6: We will make available from PYM reserve funds the sum of $3000.00 as a loan to Friend in the Orient Committee to be used as a deposit on an apartment for the Baileys, to the extent necessary.

Walter Jones, for the Finance Committee, recommended the action minutes which follow.

Action Minute 7.: We approved increasing the Finance Committee budget from $150.00 to $300.00.

Action Minute 8: We approved increasing the budget for invited guests to PYM from $150.00 to $500.00.

Action Minute 9: We approved increasing the Yearly Meeting Session income budget by $350.00.

It was further explained that Bob Young had performed an audit on the books and records of the Treasurer, and that in the future we might not be so fortunate as to have someone capable of performing this service at no cost to us, but that we should plan for audits in the future, particularly when there has been a change of treasurers. The committee will therefore recommend at Yearly Meeting that we budget $150.00 per year to go into a reserve fund, not to exceed $1000.00, to pay for future audits, and that such audits be performed either whenever the treasurers change or within a period of three to five years. Action on the Soweto project will be discussed at PYM.

Action Minute 10: The Clerk was asked to convey our appreciation to Bob Young and to Maureen and Stratton Jaquette for their excellent services as auditor and treasurers respectively.

Arrangements Clerk Bob Barns told us of his and Marie Schutz's visits to Craig Hall and the details which had been worked out for PYM 1983. Craig Hall will charge us $22.25 room and board for each adult, and $18.25 per child. We will charge an amount which will cover use of all facilities by all, including campers and visitors. The arrangements Clerk felt that we should charge a registration fee which would cover the cost of one lunch per day, encouraging all attenders to eat at least one meal together. Neither the Finance Committee nor the Representative Committee could unite with this. Expressions of concern were voiced about the increased cost to campers and the mandatory aspect of the plan, as well as the need to desegregate campers, and how best to give financial assistance where needed to insure that all who wished to attend could do so, and whether such assistance should come from monthly meetings or PYM, or both. We were unable to resolve these issues, and accepted the recommendation of the finance committee as follows.

Action Minute 11. The/fees for PYM 1983 at Craig Hall shall be as follows: Registration: ages 2 and under, $2.50; ages 3 through 12, $3.50; ages 13 and up, $6.00. Camping: $1.50 per day per person, with a $6.00 family maximum per day. Room and Board: two years and under, no charge; ages 3 through 12, $15.50 per day; ages 13 through 79, $19.00 per day, and 80 and over, $9.00 per day. All attenders are encouraged to eat lunch and other meals together whenever possible.

(Note: the present plan with Craig hall is that visitors or campers may eat any meals in the cafeteria they desire by payment, in cash, at the door, of $2.12 for breakfast, $3.18 for lunch, and $5.30 for dinner.)

Statistical Clerk John Draper announced that he will soon be sending to all Monthly and Quarterly Meetings an explanation of statistical procedures and deadlines in order that the statistical reports can be forwarded in good order.

Expression was given to our deep appreciation to Orange Grove Meeting Friends, and to Betty Ceike in particular, for the fine hospitality and good food.

The meeting ended after a period of worship.

- 1 Under control of PYM Ministry and Oversight Committee; not available for general PYM use.
- 2 Specifically contributed funds under control of the Friend in the Orient Committee; includes funds for "Windows" ($495); does not belong to PYM.
- 3 Represents printing costs, etc., that should be recovered by sale of the publication. No sales of Death in the Meeting have been reported in two years, and this amount ($324) will probably need to be written off as a loss. Negative balance in Faith and Practice represents excess of receipts over costs of reprinted Faith and Practice.
- 4 Under control of the clerk; not available for general PYM use.
- 5 Friends Bulletin monies; not available for general PYM use. No 1982 report received.
- 6 These are savings and loan accounts yielding 13.17% ($10,000) and 13.67% ($10,000) and money market fund yielding 11.06% ($14,000).
- 7 Travel reserves are funds set aside for future travel costs that PYM has already agreed to pay; most of these meet every 2 to 3 years, but we budget a portion of the cost each year.
- 8 These are the only funds available for general PYM use; they are not all in cash, however.
